Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Time flies, but to those busy with the preoccupation of bread winning, there occasionally comes a sharp awakening. Bourne on the swift stream of events, we suddenly start as we pass a mile post. One day the proud parent sees his toddling youngster running around the house in his pink birthday suit and the next, or so it seems, he holds him clad in cap and gown, receiving his college degree.

There is a pageantry, time honored, in university commencements. First into the noble, spacious stadium, marching to the gay music of bands, come the candidates, regiment upon regiment, of the short, the tall, the rotund, the slim, girls and boys, in the flapping habilments required of the occasion, mortar boards covering all shades of hair, from the straight black of Asiatics to the blond curls denoting Norse descent. Hidden beneath mortar board, tissues and skull bones are some ounces of gray matter packed tightly with a mixture of sense and nonsense, wisdom and trivialty. They are marshalled in an orderly host of 4000 or more to receive a certificate of having completed their first big adventure in learning.

A general recites in a monotone the formula for awarding to cadet officers of the university, comissions in the U. S. Army Reserve. Suddenly at the end of a drowsy sentence, the soldier speaks in a clarion voice: "RISE." The young men in their natty uniforms, galvanized as by an electric current, lift instantly to their feet, and stand, while the rest of the formula is pronounced. Through the vast audience runs a ripple of applause.

Gordon Sproul, president of the university, as a president of one of the five great universities of the world, makes such an address as should plant some seeds in sundry youthful pates to grow into a fruitful harvest for humanity in later years.

His message to students, personally, was to be strong, and to work for democratic America as firmly, as proudly, but more sanely than self-sacrificing Russians or the courageous soldiers of Nazi "battalions of death."

"The weakness of democratic nations before the dictators has been democracy's divided counsels before totalitarian unity," he said

"There must be no tolerant, or belligerent, talk of the 'working classes.' We all belong to the 'working classes,' or those who do not had better make haste to qualify.

"If dictatorship can provide not only 'bread and circuses,' but also a minimum economy of health and decency for all its citizens, and if democracy can not, it will be the worse for democracy.

"The test is a concrete one, and it will do not good to plead either the ideals or 'the system.' Democracy must concern itself with citizens as citizens in a community, differentiated in function, but by intention classless—all recognized as being of the common clay."

He said we are living in a collectivist totalitarian epoch cursed by political religions whose devotees affirm that they know absolutely "what is unknowable," and that the peculiar quality of that passing epoch is its denial that truth exists.

He suggested that Americans be patient, and realize that it is a passing epoch—a temporary shift of emphasis, and he stated, philosophically:

"Men desperate with scepticism and secularism have always blindly stumbled after some new, and strange god, be it 'the barking Anumbis' or some other."

Dr. Sproul said he believes, with Plato, that the strong men and the ruling classes are but the victims of ideas—ideas that possess inherent life and advtnturous capacity of their own.

"The tragedy," he said, "is that too many of these ideas have been drawn from those bibles of fanaticism, Das Kapital and Mein Kampf, and are drenching the world with human blood this year, this very day."

He said that the habit of life of a people rests on historical principles, capable of being recognized and followed. He does not believe that the United States, like

LEGISLATURE TAKES RECESS UNTIL DEC. 2

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—California's state legislature is in recess until December 2, having appropriated money for support of the State Relief Administration, voted funds for the flood and forest fire control and decisively defeated Gov. Olson's repeated attempts to impose $50,000,000 new taxes on the people of California.

During the two weeks special session ending Friday night, the coalition bloc of Democrat sand Republicans who have consistently opposed the Olson spending program enacted a $24,347,000 relief appropriation bill to carry relief payments to March 31, 1942, under the same restrictions in the relief bill they enacted in February which resulted in the SRA case load dripping from 116,000 cases to 78,000.

State Senator Jerrold Seawell, president pro-tem of the senate, estimated the legislature's stand for "sufficient SRA money without waste" will save California taxpayers about $50,000,000 during the 1939-1940 biennium.

The legislature appropriated also $1,900,000 for the Sacramento River flood control project, which is to be matched with $1,70,000 in federal funds, in efforts to prevent future floods such as ravaged Central California this past winter. A $500,000 appropriation to the state emergency fund for relief to counties hit by the floods, provided the counties match the allotments made them, also was voted.

The forest fire prevention bill carried an appropriation of $300,000.

Defeated by the solons were all Olson bills to raise taxes, although administration forces sought to withdraw these bills from committee and force them through. The Olson proposal to divert part of the money voted by the people to guarantee completion of the Central Valley Water Project also met with disapproval by the legislators.

"We did the things that were necessary on behalf of the people," said Senator Seawell. "Matters that can well be left for the next regular session of the legislature next year were deferred until that time. The net result of the special session was to further reduce cost of state government and to hold the tax rate down."

TRIALS OF FULLER AND BARNES ARE SET

Delbert Fuller and Walter Barnes appeared for arraignment today in the superior court with Judge George Jones presiding.

Attorney Frank Finnegan and assistant Dwight Steele represented Fuller and Attorney W. J. Cassettrai of Grass Valley was appointed to represent Barnes. Barnes and Fuller pleaded not guilty. The trial of Fuller and Barnes was set for jury trial June 10. On the second charge against Fuller he pleaded not guilty. This case has been set for jury trial June 5.

Fuller and Barnes are accused of hitting two small boys on bicycles in the Glenbrook district, and when apprehended by officers it is charged they assaulted Officer Gene Blake as he started to remove a key from a car they were driving.

ACCUSED OF CUTTING INTO WATER DITCH

W. H. Borman of North San Juan was charged with cutting the bank of a private water supply ditch, a misdemeanor, is free on $150 bail. Frank S. Reader swore to the complaint and Borman was brought before Justice of the Peace Louis Wood. His case will be heard later.

MRS. PENROSE TO BE CIVIC CLUB HOSTESS

The Women's Civic Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, May 28, at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Jas. Penrose.

NEVADA CITY QUOTA FOR RED CROSS IS $400

Five million French and Belgians are on the march, homeless, without food, many sick and wounded. This was the estimate telephoned by Wayne Chatfield Taylor, European delegate of the American Red Cross who established refugee relief headquarters in Paris on March 18, within a few hours after the present conflict was brought to French soil.

Later he cabled: While the army is fighting for its life, France is welcoming Belgians, old and young, who arrive on foot, by wagons, on bicycles, in trucks, automobiles and trains. Some are wounded, some are sick, all are hungry and completely exhausted. They bring with them practically nothing.

"Time" of May 27, telling the same story, emphasizes the great-heartedness of the Parisians, who "fed, bathed and laundered their guests first, asked questions afterwards. All kinds of folk found their way into the Centres d'Accuel (Welcoming centers), some with morale shattered, some with it intact. Children dead-eyed and frightened beyond protest.

"She (France) did not have beds, medicines or even tents for the terrorized hordes whom German troops and planes, in order to block the roads, had deliberately driven ahead of them.

"France looked hopefully to the U. S. for Red Cross ships, for in her war-torn state the problems was too big for her to handle."

The American Red Crass has been prompt to answer. To a blitzkrieg of horror they reply with a blitzkrieg of mercy. Six hundred thousand dollars cabled to Europe for the work of Red Cross and other organizations in action there; approximately one million dollars worth of supplies, chiefly ambulances, hospital trucks, surgical instruments and field hospitals purchased for immediate shipment, represent a week's expenditures.

Meanwhile the call has gone out to the citizens of the United States for a ten million dollar fund, for garments and supplies, By May 20 a number of chapters in the Pacific area had either reached or doubled their quotas of money. The Nevada City district has been asked for $400 of which only a small part has so far been collected, but that small part has already been forwarded to headquarters.

It was hoped that voluntary contributions would make it unnecessary to organize a house-to-house canvas, but if the amount does not come in soon to collection centers in the Bank of America, the National Hotel and the newspaper offices, or to officials of the chapter, such a drive will be organized. In another column is an account of the garments and supplies to be made and furnished by us, and of the workroom to be opened tomorrow in the National Hotel.

NEVADA CITY NINE WIN OVER TODD'S VALLEY

Nevada City's fast playing baseball team defeated Todd's Valley boys at that place Sunday by 11 to 6. Nevada City made 15 hits and Todd Valley 7. Mahoski, a new Nevada City pitcher, pitched two hit balls for five innings. Peck pitched four. Nevada City registered three errors and Todd Valley five.

Herbert Costa, Nevada City center fielder, won a case of beer for the first and only home run of the game. Youngman, Costa, Biggs and Stintson were Nevada City's leading batsmen getting two hits each. Every Nevada City player made at least one hit.

Next Sunday Nevada City plays Georgetown at Cashin Field. They have a good team and it is expected it will be a close game. Starting battery for Nevada City will be McKenzie and Stintson.

The game Sunday places Nevada City in a tie for second place with Auburn. Rocklin is out of second place. Yesterday Auburn beat Georgetown; Newsactle beat Rocklin, Grass Valley defeated Camp Forest.

NEW DOCK FINANCED BY DOUGHNUT SALE

Considerable work has been done at Camp Minaluta, Camp Fire Girls' summer camp on Lake Vera, which will be occupied by the different groups early in the summer. A new dock is being constructed. Funds for this work were raised by a doughnut sale by the Camp Fire Girls in Sacramento. Nearly all the officers for the camp have been chosen and a splendid season is looked forward to.

MASONS HEAR JUDGE JONES AT BREAKFAST

Superior Judge George L. Jones, of Nevada county, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons in California, was speaker at the third annual Masonic breakfast held Sunday, May 19, in Hotel Claremont, Oakland. Twelve hundred Masons attended the breakfast.

"The Frontiers of Masonry" was Judge Jones' topic in which he recited experiences of early day Masons in the state and anecdotes of the Mother Lode.

Judge Jones was to have been introduced by Judge William H. Waste, chief justice of the California Supreme Court, but he was too ill to be present. Judge Waste is past master of Durant Lodge of Berkeley and a past Grand Lodge officer.

GERALD HOGAN AIDS SETTLEMENT OF LABOR ROW

The Oakland Tribune carries an account of the part played by Gerald Hogan, formerly of this city, in aiding to secure peace in labor difficulties affecting the drug business. The account follows:

Accused of violating a Superior Court order enjoining them from picketing a West Oakland store, five persons were cited to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt.

They were directed to appear before Presiding Judge T. W. Harris Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Gerald Hogan, an employee of the drug store of David Davis, who brought the injunction suit on behalf of himself and the West Oakland Merchants' Association, charged in an affidavit that the various defendants had violated the court order.

The affidavit stated that Arthur Weld, Lorraine Kinz, Charles Sedlick, Elmer Compton and a Mrs. Shields had picketed in front of the Davis store at 7th and Peralta streets on May 18.

Judge John J. Allen granted a temporary injunction on May 16 restraining the defendants from interfering with Davis' business pending trial of the suit. He banned picketing until that time.

Davis contended that his store had been picketed by large groups in an effort to force him to employ at least 50 per cent negro help. Through his attorneys, Carlton Rank and H. Gardner Putnam, he brought the action against the Citizens' Committee for Jobs for Negroes, the Communist party and others.

PATROL OFFICER CRASHES; INJURY MAY BE FATAL

Lorris Richards, highway patrol officer of this district, suffered concussion of the brain and a crushed chest in an accident on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway below Rough and Ready yesterday afternoon. He has not regained consciousness and the exact cause of the mishap is not known. He investigated an auto accident in that section earlier in the day and was agan called on an accident. It is stated he may have lost control of his motorcycle when attempting to halt a speeding motorist and his machine went out of control on a turn, and over a two ton boulder, his body landing against a bank. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and rushed to the hospital. The injury to the head is a frontal fracture and he is bleeding from his ears, it is stated.

Officer Richards, an ex-marine, bears an excellent reputation as a courteous and efficient officer and the news of his injury spread rapidly and hopes for his recovery are expressed by everyone.

RELIEF COSTS CUT 50-MILLION SAYS SEAWELL

Relief costs in California have been reduced $50,000,000 over the 1939-1941 biennial fiscal period as a result of the "economy bloc" legislative battles against Governor Olson's program, Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville reported upon his return from the special session of the legislature of Sacramento.

"The sum of approximately $24,000,000 voted for support of relief in California until May 31, 1941, will adequately cover all proper relief payments," he said. "State Relief Administration officials reported while we were in session at Sacramento that there was surplus of $1,247,000 still left of the $12,000,000 we voted for relief in February."

It will be necessary to again consider a relief appropriation in December, when the legislature reconvenes to carry the relief load until the end of the biennium June 30, 1941, but Senator Seawell said the probable appropriation would bring total relief expenditures for the two-year period to about $80,672,000 against the demands made by Governor Olson at the start of the term for $131,025,000, a figure which results have shown to be wasteful and exorbitant.

"Our fight against the Olson demands and our insistence that relief money be spent carefully resulted in the State Relief Administration case load dropping from 116,000 cases in February to 78,000 cases in May. We feel this is ample evidence that we have done the right thing and have been of real service to everyone who pays taxes," Senator Seawell said.

While relief matters monopolized attention at the special session, the legislature voted money for forest fire protection, for repair of storm-damaged levees along the Sacramento River Valley and refused again to consider Governor Olson's demands that an additional $50,000,000 in taxes be imposed upon the people of California, Senator Seawell reported.

This Is War!

Modern, mechanized warfare, with its 80-ton tank fortresses blazing a trail of death and devastation on land, while its death-laden bombers rain wholesale destruction from the skies, is taking a ghastly, almost unbelievable toll in human lives. It is reported that 500,000 men were killed in the first five days of "total war," while Hitler's vast war machine was rolling over Holland and Belgium and into France. Never in the history of the world have the casualties of war even approximated the fearful toll in dead and wounded now being exacted in Europe's flaming inferno.

It is horrible mass murder on a scale so fantastic that it staggers the imagination. But it is doubtful whether even the frightful cost in human lives is as great as the cost in twisted, perverted character. Every standard of human decency is under attack far more deadly, from the standpoint of civilization, than the withering attack laid down by bombers and the tanks.

Dying in a French shelter, after his plane had been shot down while bombing unprotected civilians, a young German pilot was asked by an American nurse: "How can you justify the bombing and machine gunning of women and children?" And the dying Nazi pilot replied: "This is war! Heil Hitler!"

That boy's character had been machine-gnnned in his German training camp, long before his plane came down in flames. And there are millions of others just like him—squeezed dry of ideals or morality, conscienceless and unquestioning of their destiny. Some of them may escape death on the battlefield, but the "character casualties" of war are counted after the armistice—in crowded prisons, in blasted twisted lives; in hate and intolerance. This is war!—Contributed.

Wanted: June Brides!

Dan Cupid, the merry little fellow who usually travels around with an ace of hearts tucked up his sleeve, isn't doing right by the good State of California. He's staged a slow-down it seems, that is simply playing hob with the fees of ministers and marrying justices, the sales of engagement and wedding rings, the rental of bridal suites and all other incidentals that make up the commercial side of the marriage business. Dr. Walter M. Dickie, State director of public health, vouches for Cupid's slow-down in a report that marriages in California, during the first six months under the new blood-test law, have declined more than 36 per cent!

Just at the start of June, the month of the wedding march, that would be a distressing report, except for the fact that Dr. Dickie, as Cupid's right-hand assistant, has several practical suggestions for making the wedding bells peal out here just as frequently and joyfully as of old. The new law requiring health examinations, is too vital to the public welfare to abandon, he asserts, but the old "gin marriage law," requiring a three-day wait for licenses, is now unnecessary and might well be tossed overboard. But to obtain immediate results—so that June brides will stay home for the ceremony, instead of rushing off to Nevada or Arizona—he urges attractive advertising by local jewelers, florists, resorts and the hotels, with special inducements to prospective newlyweds.

A home wedding, or church wedding in the home community, is still more attractive to most brides than a quickie ceremony in Reno, according to Dr. Dickie. But the folks who help arrange such ceremonies, and profit accordingly, ought to have a word with the bride. And they can do that best, he suggests, through the ad columns.—Contributed.

Dean Inge's "nation" is a society "united by a common error as to its origin and a common dislike and contempt for its neighbors."

"The American tradition, even in these days of distress and scepticism, still exists," he said. "It is only necessary to render it vital again.

"In it lies almost the only remaining hope of prevailing against the futile cruelty of the class war and the foul philisophy that might makes right. Its affirmation almost alone offers the possibility of resistance to the armed faiths that shake the world of 1940.

"The amazing cohesion and success of the Jewish people has been due, not to blood or genesis, but to a well-understood tradition adhered to obstinately. Let us take a leaf from their book.

"Let us not be guilty of the deep treason of shame of our tradition. Let us not be boasting nationalists in terms of territory and wealth, but quietly proud nationalists on a mission of ideas to the world.

"Americans of today must find, as the fathers of the country found, principle in their own vitals. We must stand on our own feet, proud of our heritage, determined to maintain it by our own efforts."

SCOOP THURMAN
At the State Capitol

Your legislature after passing a stop gap relief appropriation bill and appropriations for flood and forest fire control adjourned the second extraordinary session last Friday but continued the first special session under a recess The recess will permit investigating committees to continue to function.

In passing a stop gap relief bill amounting to $24,347,000, your legislators believe that this amount will be ample to take care of all legitimate relief needs until March 31, 1941. Since restrictions were first placed upon the administration of relief by the state legislature much of the chiseling has been eliminated and the case load has dropped from 116,000 cases to 78,000 cases.

The legislature appropriated $1,900,000 for flood control which is to be matched by federal funds totaling $1,700,000 and in addition the legislature appropriated $500,000 to the state emergency fund or relief to counties hit by the recent floods providing the counties match the allotments made them.

An appropriation of $300,000 was given the State Board of Forestry for forest fire prevention and control. This allocation is of special interest to seven of the ten counties of the Sixth Assembly district. Nevada county will receive, as the result of this appropriation two new suppression crews and will as a rseult have a total of 4 suppression stations for the present fire season. In addition two new combination fire trucks and pumpers will be assigned to this county. Your assemblyman supported this bill on the floor of the lower house and appeared before the Senate finance committee on behalf of the bill. As a member of both the conservation and ways and means committees of the assembly we also supported the measure before these committees.

In conclusion we believe that your legislature has saved the people of California millions of dollars by economies effected. Fifty million dollars alone has been saved in the administration of relief. This fifty milion dollars represents the total amount cut in the appropriations asked for by the relief administration for the biennium. The administration asked for a relief appropriation totaling $131,025,000 for the two year period. The legislature appropriated approximately $80,672,000 for the period.

Fifty million dollars in new taxes sought by the administration was also denied by the legislature the majority of the legislators believing that with the tax ceiling about reached it would be unwise at this time to add to the tax burden. These new taxes which were denied included a severance tax on oil, tobacco tax and several other prosed tax increases.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

Friday morning was observed by the students of the Nevada City high school as their annual "Kids' Day". The students caused much amusement in their clever costumes. Lollypops and chewing gum were on hand. After the morning assembly, Mr. Kjorlie took moving pictures of the students and still pictures of those in outstanding costumes. The faculty met and awarded the prize of $1 to the one with the best costume, who was Pauline Marshall, dressed as a baby.

The afternoon was spent at the annual school picnic at Lake Olympia, swimming, boating and playing games. The day came to an end with a dance on the platform in the middle of the lake.

ASSEMBLY

The regular assembly Friday was devoted mostly to campaign speeches for the next year student body officers. The managers introduced the candidates and they in turn said a few words.

The managers and candidates are as follows: Elsie Schreiber, Kirk Martin for president; Sylvia Ronning, Mary Innis for vice president; Babe Childers, Donald Odgers for secretary; James McCraney, Jack Neal for secretary; Mary Innis, Mildred Ratcliff for treasurer and Mary Libbey, Betty Krough for treasurer. Those holding student body cards may vote. The election will be held soon.

RED CROSS WORK ROOM TO SUPPLY AID TO EUROPE

A Red Cross workroom is to be opened in the National Hotel, which is donating the use of the sewing room back of the banquet hall. Sewing machines, materials, directions and companionship will be available here each Tuesday from 1 o'clock until 8 o'clock in the evening.

This workroom will be used cooperatively by those working on the quota on the local chapter, and by those sewing on materials to be furnished by the British Red Cross.

Mrs. Orlando McCraney is production chairman of the local American Red Cross, and Mrs. Byron Eastman is making the arrangements on behalf of the British organization. Mrs. Eastman, residing at the National Hotel, will welcome the loan of additional sewing machines.

Mrs. Belle Douglass, secretary of the Red Cross Chapter in Nevada City is today notifying the national headquarters that the chapter will undertake the following quota, to be finished by September 1: 10 men's sweaters, 10 women's sweaters (Cardigan preferred and or black shawls) 20 children's sweaters, 10 women's dresses, 20 girl's dresses, 20 layettes.

The yarn for the knitted garments and crocheted shawls is to be provided by the national Red Cross but other materials are to be bought by the local Chapter. Funds for this are provided for by apportioning fifteen per cent of the $400 sum now in the process of being collected here in Nevada City.

In addition the following garments are requested in such quarters as it seems possible to produce; hospital bed sheets, convalescent robes, operating gowns, children's stockings, men's socks, boys suits, knitted suits and dresses for children under six, beanies.

Garments are to be sent to New York for distribution in Europe as soon as a considerable number is finished.

If all chapters produce the quotas given they will have 166,000 sweaters, 98,000 dresses; 36,000 layettes, ready for distribution at points of greatest need abroad by September.

Under this ambitious program it can be seen that all are badly needed. Money will be received at The Nugget office.

It is hoped that residents of the Nevada City district will make a habit of coming into the workroom every Tuesday either to work there or to get materials for home work.
